

Our Building's History

When the church was built in 1902, the building was on the edge of Halifax, and was built there to reach out to a new area of the city. One hundred plus years later, the building is now at the heart of the city, and All Nations Church reaches out to a historic area of the city. The building's surroundings have changed dramatically, but the mission to reach out in Christ's name remains the same.

In August, 1989, the All Nations congregation began a successful space-sharing arrangement with the J. Wesley Smith United Church of their spacious church building, on the corner of Robie and Charles Streets. However, this arrangement ended with the disbanding of the United Church congregation in December, 1993.

In October, 1994, All Nations Church purchased the J. Wesley Smith building.

In November, 2002, All Nations and members of the former J. Wesley Smith building congregation worshiped together to celebrate 100 years of ministry in the building on Robie Street.

In 2003, All Nations celebrated 50 years of Christian Reformed ministry in Halifax.

In June, 2008, All Nations celebrated the congregation's 50th anniversary, which some of our former members and pastors were able to attend.

We love that our space can be used by the community around us.
